de los países que Integran la Región"*

Palabras del Secretario General de FELABAN Giorgio Trettenero Castro

Asamblea del BID COREA 2015

Good morning to all, thank you for your time and interest demonstrated in the banks in our region, and the BID and Koea Intitute of Finance for facilitate this important meeting.

FELABAN this year celebrates 50 year PROMOTING THE DEVELOPMENT OF BANKING AND COUNTRIES THAT MAKE UP THE REGION

The Latin American Federation of Banks – FELABAN - is a non-profit institution, established in 1965. Grouped together by their respective banking associations (in 19 countries of the continent), to more than 600 banks and financial institutions in Latin America.

De principals Felaban Objetives is:

- To encourage and facilitate contact, understanding and direct relations between Latin American financial institutions, regardless of the domestic politics practiced by each country.
- To contribute through its technical services to the coordination of standards and the unification of its banking and financial practices throughout Latin America.
- To cooperate through its own activities to the effective economic development of Latin American countries and the movements of economic integration that are involved.
- Aim for greater financial resourcing as well as the increased access to the financial services offered, to lower income population groups as a way of reducing poverty in Latin American countries.
